

Developments in Health Communication in the 21st Century

Author/s: Jones, Liz Watson, Bernadette M. | Year: 2012 | Publication type: Journal article | Peer reviewed: | Topic area/s: Language and Translation

Reference:

Key Words:

literature review, care, services, minority groups

Research aim:

themes are invoked to explore where health communication is moving in the 21st century. Burgeoning work on intergroup communication in this context, patient voice, minority groups, and the role of the carer are highlighted.

Results/Conclusion:

Implications:

Cultural Group(s):

Location of study:

Age group:

Number included in study:

N/A

Type of participants:

Research approach:

Type of data:

Secondary data sources used:

Specific scales or analytical techniques used:

Implications/ Recommendations:

Notes:

Not primary research - review of research findings (international, including some Australian work) around care for people from minority backgrounds