

International Health Worker Mobility: Causes, Consequences, and Best Practices

Author/s: Ray, Kristin Michelle Lowell, B. Lindsay Spencer, Sarah | Year: 2006 | Publication type: Journal article | Peer reviewed: | Topic area/s: Carers who are CALD, General Care

Reference:

Key Words:

care workforce, migrant care workers

Research aim:

This article summarizes the discussion of experts at a Roundtable meeting on the causes and consequences of global healthcare mobility, policy options, and future research needs.

Results/Conclusion:

Topics included global health worker mobility, the causes and consequences of health worker mobility in source countries, admission policies in European and North American host countries, working conditions and integration in these countries, and admissions best practices.

Implications:

The workshop concluded with a discussion on what further types of research are needed in this area.

Cultural Group(s):

Location of study:

Age group:

Number included in study:

N/A

Type of participants:

Research approach:

Type of data:

Secondary data sources used:

Specific scales or analytical techniques used:

Implications/ Recommendations:

Notes:

Not primary research - discussion paper resulting from roundtable discussion about migrant health care workforce