

Kalimera – host home respite for Greek people with dementia

Author/s: Leake, S Michael, P Kyrkou, A | Year: 2005 | Publication type: Conference presentation | Peer reviewed: | Topic area/s: Culturally Appropriate Care, Dementia, Carers who are CALD

Reference:

Key Words:

Greek, respite, ethno-specific care, CALD carers

Research aim:

Discussion about the development of Australia's first ethno-specific host home respite program.

Results/Conclusion:

Discussion of the merits of this program for older Greek community members, response from carers and participants.

Implications:

Cultural Group(s):

Greek (case study)

Location of study:

Victoria (Melbourne)

Age group:

Number included in study:

N/A

Type of participants:

Research approach:

Type of data:

Secondary data sources used:

Specific scales or analytical techniques used:

Implications/ Recommendations:

Notes:

Not primary research, conference paper about home host respite program for older Greek people with dementia