

Outreach and collaboration : meeting the needs of CALD elders in Queensland

Author/s: Hess, Margaret Telini, Vicki | Year: 2008 | Publication type: Magazine Article | Peer reviewed: | Topic area/s: Culturally Appropriate Care

Reference: Hess, M. and V. Telini (2008). "Outreach and collaboration : meeting the needs of CALD elders in Queensland." Australian Mosaic(20): 42-43.

Key Words:

CALD, service access, culturally appropriate care

Research aim:

This article examines ways to improve access of CALD elders to health services for the aged in Queensland. It explores methods used by the Ethnic Communities' Council of Queensland (ECCQ) to increase awareness and improve the delivery of culturally appropriate information about the availability of services and support, including working in collaboration with various health care agencies and in partnership with various ethnic communities. It also describes other services provided by ECCQ, including multilingual support, in-home support, direct care, and support for people who have experienced torture.

Results/Conclusion:

Implications:

Cultural Group(s):

Location of study:

Age group:

Number included in study:

N/A

Type of participants:

Research approach:

Type of data:

Secondary data sources used:

Specific scales or analytical techniques used:

Implications/ Recommendations:

Notes: