

Power and Powerlessness: A Project Investigating Matters Affecting Residents from Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Backgrounds in Aged Care Facilities

Author/s: Multicultural Council of Tasmania | Year: 2006 | Publication type: Report | Peer reviewed: | Topic area/s: High Level Care, Culturally Appropriate Care

Reference:

Key Words:

residential care, community consultation, service provision

Research aim:

the Power and Powerlessness project chose to go to community groups on their own turf and consult with them in an informal and flexible way about their preferences for care in ageing, including residential care

Results/Conclusion:

The responses of these people, considered within the context of current thinking on residential care delivery, constitute the findings of this report

Implications:

Recommendations made come from the community consultations and the forums and include feedback and suggestions from carers and service providers as well as the community members interviewed.

Cultural Group(s):

CALD (many groups in Tasmania represented at consultations)

Location of study:

Tasmania

Age group:

Number included in study:

N/A

Type of participants:

ethnic community members

Research approach:

Community consultations

Type of data:

Primary

Secondary data sources used:

Specific scales or analytical techniques used:

Implications/ Recommendations:

Notes: